Groundswell - Farm Transitions

Friday, December 11 | Noon–4:30 p.m.
This year's Groundswell Pre-Convention Workshop will focus on farm succession and transition. Participants will explore different pathways and financial models, learn how to begin important conversations, and connect with professionals who support farmland access and transition.

Convention Workshops

- Rural Community Power
  Explore how communities can organize, identify leverage points and protect local interests as data centers and large corporate developments seek rural land, water, and resources.
- Paths to Family-Scale Dairy Viability
  Hear how advocacy, legislation, regulatory reform and new markets could help create a more stable future for Wisconsin's family dairy farms.
- Cooperative Resilience
  Learn the basics of cooperative models and hear how two Wisconsin veterinary clinics became Cooperative Veterinary Care, the nation's first worker-owned veterinary hospital.
- Urban Agriculture in Action
  Hear from urban growers navigating land access, soil health, regulations and food insecurity while building more resilient local food systems.

KEYNOTE

Wendy Johnson

Wendy is a Northeast Iowa farmer, entrepreneur, writer and policy advocate. She and her husband operate Jóia Food Farm, raising pasture-based livestock and integrating grazing, agroforestry and direct marketing alongside their organic grain farm. Wendy also co-manages her family's 1,100-acre corn and soybean farm, where she has introduced no-till, cover crops, diversified rotations and reduced inputs, and founded Jóia Sleep, a regenerative wool bedding company. She serves on several agricultural boards and committees and is the lead farmer advisor for Climate Land Leaders.

For our Saturday night entertainment this year, we're excited to bring you the Cynor Classics, a honky-style polka band hailing from Sheldon, WI. Don't forget to pack your dancing shoes!
